SUMMARY

With a commitment to professional growth and a passion for software development, I aim to expand my skills and experiences to advance in my career. Since 2020, I have served as a police constable at the Home Department, navigating various challenges while maintaining a busy schedule and handling high-pressure situations. Despite these demands, I have actively cultivated technical expertise, driven by my enthusiasm for software development. Now, I am eager to transition my career towards this field and leverage my acquired skills to contribute meaningfully in software development roles.
